

Style

Home

1. Dedar

The Italian brand behind the library wallpaper in Luca Guadagnino's film is a go-to for patterns that look good faded. Price upon request; at Kneeder-Fauchère in L.A. and the NYC showroom.

2. Future Perfect

The T3 Mathus table comes in various marble and metallic finishes; Josh Hartnett shops at Future Perfect. From $7,895; thefutureperfect.com

3. Boffi

Blendy chair in mustard; Michael Bay has Boffi in his home. Price upon request; at the WeHo showroom, 310-652-5500

4. Laun

Poolside meets couch-side in this Confetti side table. Apple TV's Carter Batsell enjoys the brand. From $3,200; launlosangeles.com

5. Quintas

The Dove sofa in Rosewood silk velvet with a 22-karat antiqued gold plinth; Melissa McCarthy is a fan of the brand. About $17,000; at the Quintus showroom; 323-634-1924

6. Chairish

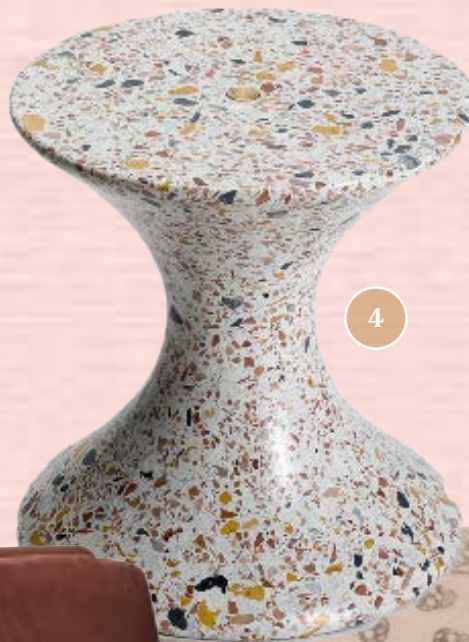

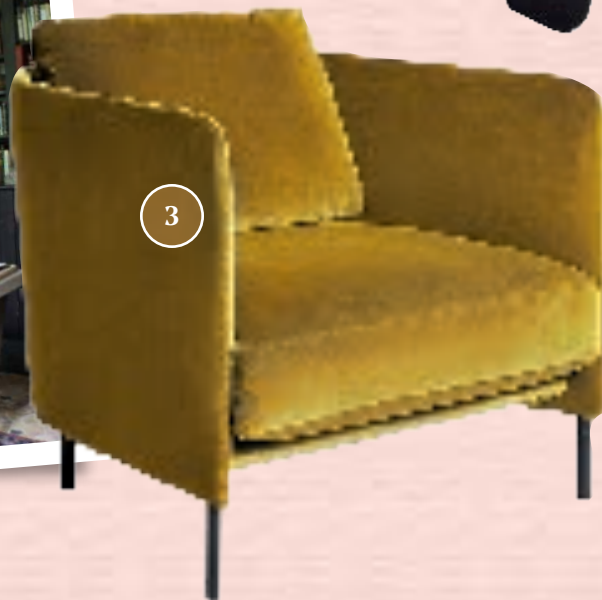

Schitt's Creek co-creator Dan Levy raves about the site, which hosts this rococo mirror; $550; chairish.com

7. Alexander McQueen

Skull rug updates the Persian; $343 per square foot; therugcompany.com

INSPIRATION

The design of Call Me by Your Name, including this bohemian library, is emblematic of a new Hollywood eclecticism.

Cozy & Collected

Luxe, layered interiors of Call Me by Your Name have set off a measured movement toward eclectic, well-traveled interiors reflected in the recent redos of studio execs and stars like Anne Hathaway, as well as social hubs like downtown L.A.'s new Soho Warehouse

By Abigail Stone

Photogr